

Morgan Engel

CSIA Level 4, CSIA Course Conductor, ACA Development Level Coach, CASI Level 1
Technical Director at Mount Norquay Snow School, Business Owner

Morgan Engel started his career as a CSIA Instructor in Alberta in 1992. While working full-time in the ski industry he has held the roles of ski instructor (Hidden Valley, Norquay and Lake Louise), Head Coach of the Elkwater Race Club and Volunteer Coach with Valley Race Club (Alliance, AB). Currently he volunteers with CADS (Calgary, AB), is an active Course Conductor throughout Alberta and is the Technical Director of Mount Norquay Snow School.

The Kinsman Club is where he gained valuable volunteer board experience (2003-2009). He sat on or chaired various committees where he understood the roles, responsibilities and time commitment that those positions required.

Morgan was elected to the CSIA Alberta board and served from 2010-2016. He was again elected in 2017 where he currently sits as Chair of the Region and chairs the meetings of the CSIA Regional Chairs Collaboration Conference Calls. In his eight years he has contributed to the development of several offerings in Alberta, these include:

- Regional clinics
- Social media for the Alberta Region
- Project Y
- Four contract committees

The Alberta board positions he has held are Treasurer, Secretary, Vice Chair and Chair. He has worked courses, PDP's, and clinics throughout Alberta and two other regions, which gives him a current understanding of the membership and their needs.

Morgan would be honored to further give back to the Alliance through the opportunity to represent our vast membership nationally. He is confident in his ability to fairly and transparently represent CSIA members from a National perspective.

D. Darren MacDonald

CSIA Level 3, Level 2 ACA and CSIA Level 1 Course Conductor

Darren MacDonald is a professional Ergonomist and educator with an addiction to skiing. He has two decades of experience consulting to business, from startups to Fortune 500 corporations throughout North America, on designing environments, processes and products from the perspective of the user. He draws upon that experience to help lead design, innovation and entrepreneurship programming at Cape Breton University.

He received his undergraduate degree in Kinesiology from Dalhousie University and his masters in Ergonomics Design from the University of Derby in the UK. Darren was also part of the inaugural class at Cape Breton University's UIT Startup Immersion program in Technology Entrepreneurship.

This past January, Darren celebrated 9 years since taking his Level 1 with the CSIA and he has been an active member in the ski school at Ski Ben Eoin ever since. As a lifelong learner he commits himself to develop both his ski teaching and skiing ability through courses, modules and camps annually. He currently leads a ski and teach improvement group for Ben Eoin instructors on Monday nights. In addition to the ski school Darren has been a part-time coach since 2011 with the Ben Eoin Ski Team.

Darren has board experience at the local, regional and national levels. Most recently he completed his second 5-year term with the Canadian Kinesiology Alliance, a national board he helped establish in the 1990's. He currently sits as a Canadian Advisor to ISO Technical Committee 159 for Ergonomics and the Institute for Work & Health's Educationally Influential Ergonomists committee.
