

Trainer Designation

Who Should Take This Program?

The Trainer Designation is a valuable tool and training opportunity for leaders in the industry who are already, or are looking to become:

- 1) Trainers in their Snow School
- 2) CSIA Level 1 Course Conductors and/or
- 3) Level 4 Certified

Prerequisites:

- CSIA Level 3 Certified
- Interest in developing other Instructors ski technique and teaching skills

Am I Ready?

A proven technique to improve your own understanding of a subject is to teach others and that is exactly what the Trainer Designation Program will give you an opportunity to do. Participants will learn how to model a clear and concise lesson approach and will be shown how to pass on knowledge and experience to 'new' Ski Instructors who are at the beginning of their development journey.

As a Trainer, an ability to provide a well-structured, interactive and collaborative training opportunity for new Instructors is key for them to gain knowledge and confidence. Candidates will learn how to teach others to create a safe, valuable and memorable experience to the students they encounter. The Trainer Designation is offered in a two-day Trainer Development format and culminates in a one-day Trainer Exam. These components can be taken at various times to fit your schedule and do not have to be taken simultaneously.

The Trainer Designation is a prerequisite to apply to the Level 4 Academy and to become an active Level 1 Course Conductor.
